Beef & Liberty

Dining - Burgers & Beers

Beef & Liberty loves hamburgers more than anything else in the world. Their love of 'all things burger related' inspired them to spend years researching what makes the perfect hamburger - meat-to-bun ratios, patty recipes, grind coarseness, Maillard reactions, and cheese meltability to name but a few. Beef & Liberty is the product of that obsession - those technical details are exactly what they are all about. It is this passion that is made them want to share their burger addiction with the good people of Hong Kong.

Their name originates in 18th century Britain where the leading members of London society gathered in beefsteak clubs to partake of great food, fine booze and entertaining company. The brilliantly named Sublime Society of Beefsteaks was the most famous of all the clubs and its motto was "Let beef and liberty be my reward". They loved the line so much they took it as their name.
